A FOLK-MUSEUM FOR ENGLAND.

REGENCY PARK SCHEME.

PROPOSED GROUP OF "PERIOD" DWELLINGS WITH FURNISHINGS.

Will posterity require of Peter Pan that he should resign one-half of his kingdom in Kensington Gardens to Mr. Lansbury? Having endowed frequenters of Hyde Park with mixed bathing in the Serpentine, Mr. Lansbury now turns to Regency Park to announce that the large plot of land, some fourteen or fifteen acres, now held under lease by the Royal Botanic Society will in 1932 be added to the Park and thrown open to the public.
It is not clear that this announcement is without reservation. It is coupled with a promise of £20,000 for the purpose of an open air folk-museum,
the establishment of which is under consideration. It is perhaps permissible to put the two statements together and assume that the Committee of the Board of Education at the Office of Works which has been appointed to consider the scheme for the proposed museum will have in view the possible use of the land for this purpose. It was, indeed, one of the alternatives
suggested by the Royal Commission of the National Museums, and its suitability, both in position and in character, has been strongly urged by the Committee appointed some three years ago by the Council of the Royal Anthropological Institute with the object of securing the establishment of such a folk-museum.

A Serious Gap.
If this proposal comes to fruition,
as there is little reason to doubt now that it has reached this stage,
Mr. Lansbury will have a strong claim on the grateful memory of posterity. By his action he will have made good a serious gap in our national collections, and he will have made possible the introduction of a new type of museum
into England.
It is a remarkable thing that,
while the cultures of the more remote and primitive peoples of the world can be effectively studied in our museums, there is no adequate and comprehensive collection in England which covers the life of the English people in the past.
The culture of the upper classes at different periods, it is true, is well illustrated in one or other of our national collections by armour,
dress, furniture, and other accompaniments of their daily life.
Peasants and Artisans.
The peasantry and artisan population is represented only by isolated exhibits here and there in various museums, and these are shown as curious because obsolete, rather than as material for serious study.

For this the hard-worked museum official is not to blame. He has followed where the anthropologist has led; and accordingly has tended to concentrate on the remote in time and space—the culture of the peoples outside Europe or upon man in prehistoric times. In dealing with higher civilisations of more recent times, the beauty or intrinsic value of individual objects have been the guide rather than
cultural significance.
Notwithstanding the neglect of the anthropologist, there can be no question that intensive study of the material culture of the folk of this country on the lines on which the material culture of primitive peoples in other parts of the world has been studied would be more fruitful in results. We are a mixed race. In the study of folklore and tradition traces of this composite character can readily be discerned. Study of the material culture will reveal even more certainly the racial admixture and racial distribution which have resulted from the successive waves of migration which have swept over these islands. But without a central folk-museum comprehensive in its scope both in time and in space within our boundaries the difficulties in the way of the student are many.

SOME DISTINCTIVE DESIGNS.

Hats designed for wear in the coming winter season show plenty of variety, particularly in trimmings. There are naturally many close-fitting shapes, for the majority of women prefer this type of hat for cold weather, and they certainly seem to "go" with fur coats and fur-trimmed coats more effectively than wide-brimmed varieties, except on very dressy occasions. But for women who are tired of the close-fitting shapes there are hats with medium brims that are very becoming.

Some Velvet Models.

Velvet is a particularly favoured material for the new millinery. I have seen it embroidered with self-coloured silk and made into a shape that moulds the brow and top of the head closely and then falls into soft folds towards the nape of the neck.

Another smart velvet model was a tight-fitting cap ruched all over and finished with a spray of leather flowers placed flatly at the close to the neck. Another model that fitted the head closely had shirring across the front and was finished with a velvet loop at one side.

A Wide-brimmed Model.

A most becoming trimmed model in brown velvet accompanied an ensemble of the same material. The hat had a medium crown, and the brim, which was wide at the sides, was cut close to the head at the back so that it did not interfere with the fur collar on the coat it accompanied.

Novel Trimmings.

Small feather mounts appear frequently as trimming on small felt shapes, and jewelled ornaments seem as popular as ever. For these paste, crystal and turquoise are often used.

Chenille is used very effectively to trim velvet models, and "flat" furs, such as broadtail and summer ermine, are often used.

ROUND THE SHOPS.

[By "EVE."]

The Dolly Vardon Hat Shop. A new consignment of "Catalina" and "Mayfair" hats has arrived. These hats are always attractive, and the new ones appear even more so. Manipulation of beautiful workmanship and simple trims stand out this season. Colour, too, plays an interesting role. Blue, fawn and black are in the majority, while a new dark shade of red is seen. As velvet is used a great deal this season hats follow the fashion, and many in black panne velvet are seen. Made in the striking style as worn by Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," they practically follow the line of the neck, and are becoming to almost everyone. I'm sure they will be a favourite for some time to come. In addition to the very smart sport suits shown, I noticed many charming knitted dresses of chic and fashionable lines.

Whiteaway's. There is great variety in coat fashions this year as seen in the new models which have arrived for Whiteaway's. There are tailored coats, sports coats and caped coats in the popular tweed effects and velours; most of these are heavily furled at neck and wrist while others are plain but look very smart. Clever flares, nipped-in waistline, narrow belts, capelets and novel girdles all help to form the new attractive.

In the furnishing department the new art-silk furnishing fabrics are as perfect in colour harmony as you could desire.

Lane, Crawford's. Fashion ordains that gloves must tone with the rest of the toilette, and the most delicate shades are to be worn. The three-quarter length size has been reintroduced. Sports gloves still have big gauntlets, but for ordinary day-time occasions they terminate at the wrist.

In the children's department some very smart coats for children and misses are seen. Made of velour cloth trimmed with fur and cut on new lines, these little coats are as delightful as those of the grown-ups. All the darker shades are being used for the kiddies this season, I notice.

Pioneer. A new display of "Kayser" No. 157 stockings—an extra fine quality—have just been unpacked. There is also a profusion of printed silks on dark backgrounds, and the new fancy silks are just the thing for dresses for the cooler weather and are also most suitable for the kiddies as they stand a great deal of washing and wear. New smoking gowns of printed crepe de chine and padded dressing gowns of the same material have also arrived and are really very attractive. A novelty at this store is a matching set for men, comprising a silk shirt with collar, tie, socks and handkerchief. To match these come in quite a number of colours, and are most suitable for presents.

Maison Marnac. This designer has expressed the latest styles in the new creations seen at this salon. The evening floor-length evening gowns look gay with their bright colours and their new short coats. The later are made of the same material as the dresses and look very smart. I noticed some delightful evening frocks of nylon, heavily draped and with very wide flares. For afternoon wear dresses are a little shorter than for evening. I noticed quite a few dresses and coats in the new tweed effect which is going to be so popular this season.

Pamela. The new dress designer in this shop has turned out some very lovely day and evening gowns. Some of the frocks are really beautiful with that touch of individuality which makes all the difference. The accessories that have arrived from England and Paris are the last word and are well worth a visit.

GREY HAIR.

Hair is said to be turning grey at least five years sooner than it used to do. "This is because," says a woman who has made the science of the hair her career, "people will not realize that hair is temperamental. No two scalps are the same. Where one person might have her hair shingled with impunity another runs the risk by so doing of her colour cells dying; and her hair turning prematurely grey. Just as over-pruning in nature would kill rather than quicken, so the constant application of the shears to the hair causes it to suffer from shock, which makes it fade, and eventually die if steps are not taken to allow it to rest and recover."

THE STAINED TEA CLOTH.

When tea is spilt on a cloth the best method of dealing with the accident is to put, promptly, a large hand under the stain, and pour boiling water over it until every trace has disappeared. The cloth may then be left flat over a pad until sufficiently dry to be ironed.

A particularly satisfactory and inexpensive material for chair and sofa coverings, or for loose covers, is a good-quality hessian, such as is used when making coarse aprons. Not only does it look extremely well, but the drab colour blends with almost any scheme of decoration, from that in which "futurist" cretonnes are employed to soft plain blues and pinks. When soiled, the hessian may be cleaned by sprinkling it thickly with powdered magnesia, and, twenty-four hours later, brushing this off with two soft clean brushes; or by gently rubbing breadcrumbs over it with the palms of the hands. Loose covers are washable, but a little should be allowed for shrinking.

PUFF SLEEVES.

THE EVENING NECKLINE.

A return to the early Victorian fashion of small puff sleeves is a style already popular for evening wear. With frocks of fragile and filmy materials, such as fisher net, chiffon, and tulle, these small sleeves are delightfully quaint and new, after so many seasons of dance frocks in which the only indication of sleeves was a narrow shoulder strap. A square décolletage must accompany these puff sleeves to give the right effect. The extremely low backed effect is still worn, so that the new idea of sleeves may be an attempt to take away from that bare look about the shoulders and arms which the backless form gives its wearer.

With the high, normal waistline and long, full skirt now seen in all evening gowns, the sleeves give an appropriate finish which would have looked out of place with short skirts. The edges of the neckline and sleeves are usually bound with a narrow satin ribbon to match the frock, if it is not of tulle or of sheer georgette, or chiffon, self material is used as binding. Sometimes rows of diamonds are used to give a brilliant finish to the neckline. Tiny bows are placed on the sleeves, and add to the early Victorian effect.

The very latest evening frocks all show some attempt to soften the line of the décolletage. Many have burtha collars or capes, or are finished with flounces all round the neckline, falling over the arms, while tiny straps of the same material as the gown, or of brilliants, are worn over the shoulders to keep the gown in place.

PERFUMES OF A CENTURY.

VICTORIAN FLORAL ESSENCES.

Still lingering upon the dressing-tables of a modern world, and floating from wisps of chiffon handkerchiefs, is the delicate perfume which Queen Alexandra discovered when she came as a bride to live in London. The young Princess's flower-like beauty was on the tip of her adopted nation's tongue, and her tastes in dress, jewellery, or any other feminine matters were of much importance to the beautiful women of that day.

A Royal Choice.

The Princess, shopping in Bond Street, fell in love with a natural, typically English scent named White Rose, and this blend she used throughout her life. Such royal favour of what was a simple floral perfume set its seal of distinction upon it, and during the peaceful, happy days of King Edward's reign the reigning queens of society and fashion chose White Rose because they liked their Queen's choice, and because they were proud to copy the First Lady of the Land.

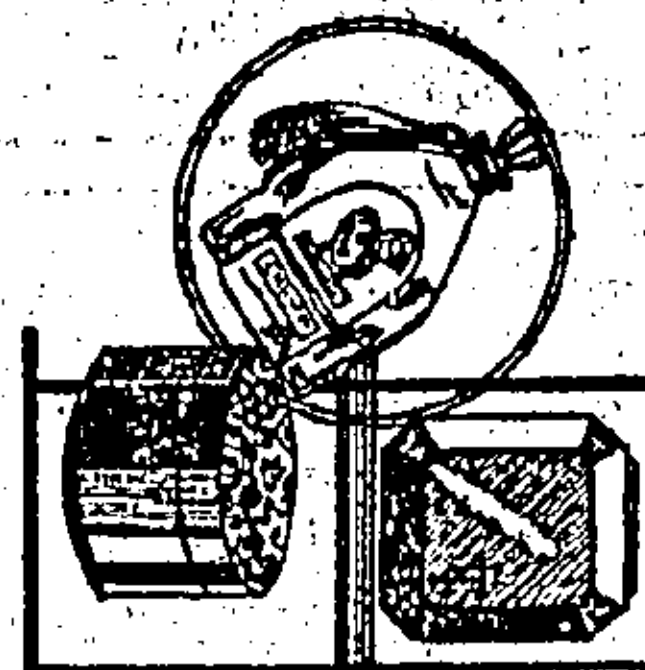

For more than half a century White Rose has held its own, ever through those years when mystic eastern aromatics—extracts of hothouse, spice, and tropical woods—pleased the olfactory fancy of a new generation of women.

The Revival of Femininity.

And now it is Queen Alexandra's scent that is in the vanguard of a procession of floral perfumes drifting into the mode with this revived feeling for flowing diaphanous materials and the more traditional spirit of femininity.

For the perfumer had long since trained his trade binoculars on advancing models and made ready for the swirl of filmy skirts and floppy hats with their quaint jackets and glass jewellery. To mingle with them he blended pure floral essences; uninvolved scents like lilac, rose, lily-of-the-valley, violet, carnation, and even a version of the heliotrope which hovered around the corseted swooning Victorians.

Queen Alexandra's perfume was a triumph of distillation and blending made by the eighteenth-century English firm, which has introduced carillon music to conservative Bond Street.

In the "Good Old 'Eighties."

In the hackneyed "good old 'eighties" women used perfume sparingly, toilet water regularly, and paid in most instances, just half the price they do now. The Queen's half-guinea bottle of White Rose costs a guinea, and eau de Cologne is four times the price it was in the spacious days of the bustle and the carriage and pair.

The warm fragrances of Spain were fancied by the up-to-date debutantes of Queen Victoria's drawing-rooms; rondeletia and stephanotis were two smart vogues, and a jockey club was positively a fever! Its craze lasted until the beginning of this century.

Rouge, lipstick and face powder were used only by the daring or the vulgar, fastidiously and very sparingly by the best people.

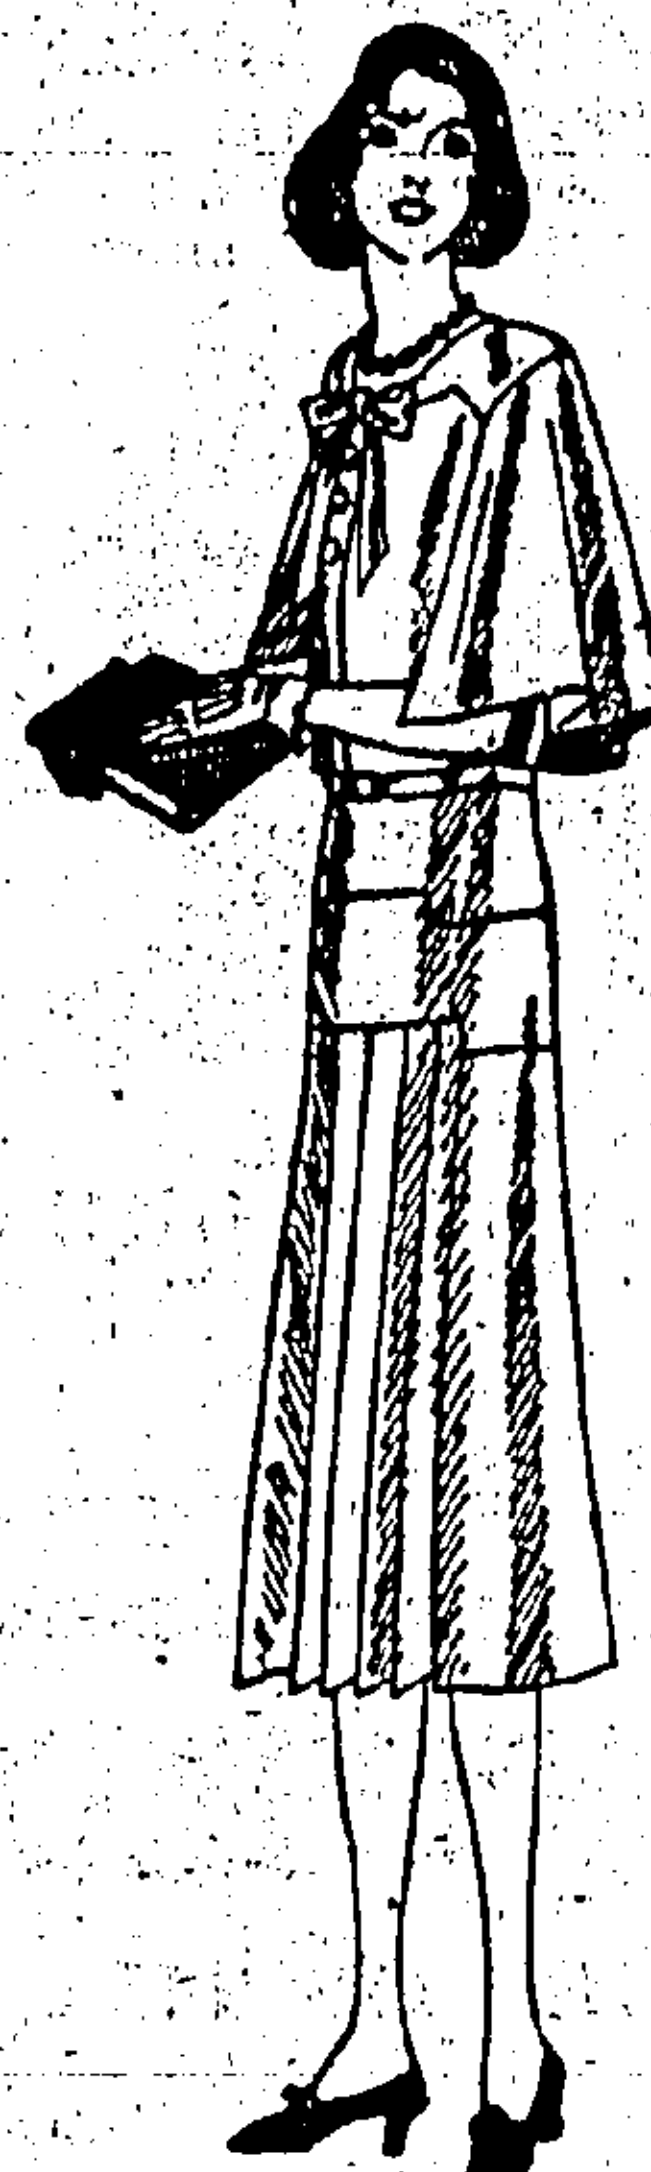

When Men Used "Cosmetiques."

But the men! There were Spanish leather essences, for scenting the gloves, renowned perfumed hair grease for their plastered style of hair-dressing—no wonder Victorian women introduced antiseptics on their chairbacks—and a medley of cosmetics (spelt with a q) for the trimming of their mustaches.

Men's needs have been reduced to a few necessities, but women use ten times the amount of perfume they did fifty years ago, and the variety of articles for their dressing-tables has increased nearly twenty fold.

A chemist estimated that there are some 7,000 "essences" for his choice in blending a perfume, but approximately only 2,000 of them are good.

Those confusing delicious perfumes with Oriental or French descriptive names, often have as many as 60 different essences in them; one oil may be so strong that only a pinhead drop is required to make or mar a large.

BAD FOR CHILDREN.

SPECIMENS OF JUVENILE HUMOUR.

How quarrelling parents can do infinite harm in the later years of their children's lives was recently described at the Cambridge summer school by Dr. C. W. Kimmins, the authority on children. "If you have the father and the mother quarrelling and having differences in the home it is no place for the growing up of children," he said. "It lays the foundation of infinite trouble in later life. I am absolutely convinced of that. Disharmony in the home is the great starting point in children. When you cause that feeling of nervous anxiety in a child it is very difficult to get rid of it. They ponder over it, and it is the first step which ends eventually in mental breakdown."

"If you have not got harmony in the home the child is far better at school, and that has to be faced. Some most desirable people in many ways have such neurotic qualities that they are quite incapable of bringing the proper influence on young children."

Dr. Kimmins said that it had been suggested in certain quarters that there should be free secondary education. "Let me tell you," he said, "We are a long way from that. I think Bradford is taking the lead in this special department. They have in Bradford eight schools at which no fees are charged. One hundred and fifty Americans have come over to attend the students' summer school."

Some Child Stories.

Dr. Kimmins described how he carried out an experiment in which he examined a 1,000 funny stories written by London school children and 1,500 written by New York school children. "I found," he said, "that American children have a very distinctive sense of humour. At one school in New York no less than 53 per cent. gave accounts of the writings of Artemus Ward, Bret Harte, and Mark Twain, principally Mark Twain. In the papers I examined there were more references to Charles Dickens than in the 10,000 papers I had from London children. They love Dickens far more in America than they do in England."

"The American children delight in telling stories about things that have happened to people in England, especially politicians. One twelve-year-old told a story of a man who risked his life to save another from drowning, and who told the Coroner, 'I looked carefully, to make quite sure it was not Lloyd George, and then I pulled him out.' "It so happened," said Dr. Kimmins, "that I was going over on the Mauretania with Mr. Lloyd George, and I told him the story. What amused him most was the concluding paragraph which reads: 'This shows that Mr. Lloyd George must be a very great man.'"

Dr. Kimmins told several stories of children's funny sayings. Among these was a story of a boy who said, "A little fellow only three years old was heard speaking as follows into a toy telephone: 'Wrong number again, damn!'"

LIQUOR SHORTAGE AFTER VOYAGES.

LIVERPOOL EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

To account for a shortage of bonded stores the custom of entertaining visitors on liners was advanced in a report at Liverpool in which William H. Harding, Queen's Director, Stewards, Liverpool, formerly chief steward of the a.s. Cambridge, was charged with embezzling £21 worth of stores belonging to the New Zealand Federal Line.

Mr. R. S. Nicklin, who prosecuted for the company, said the stores comprised whisky, beer, stout, mineral waters, tobacco, and cigarettes. Percy James Cornford, superintendent purser of the company, said after a check had been made the defendant admitted the shortage and wrote a letter in which he said that it was due to the fact that he had to do a lot of entertaining of Customs and other people who came on board the ship. Mr. Nicklin said the company was charged with a liberal hand. To Captain Richard Williams, master of the Cambridge, Mr. J. A. Behn, who defended, suggested that during the voyages extending over the last three years, Harding had done all the entertaining at different ports, and had had to do it out of stores. Captain Williams: That is untrue. Giving evidence, Harding said there had been a shortage at the end of each of six voyages. In order to facilitate the loading and discharging of the ship at various ports he had to entertain Customs, Customs officers, and others who went on board. This entertaining should have been done by the Captain. (Continued at foot of next column.)

In convicting the defendant of the charge the Deputy Stipendiary (Mr. S. C. V. Addinell) ordered that £13 7s. 6d. of the defendant's money which was held by the company should be retained by them, and imposed no other penalty. Mr. Nicklin said the company wished the case to be an example because these offences had been causing a great deal of trouble and loss to shipowners.

A FOLK-MUSEUM FOR ENGLAND.

Nature of the Museum.

The scheme, which Mr. Lansbury's Committee is to consider contemplates an open-air museum. The so-called open-air museum—that term is only partially correct in its application—has been the subject of considerable attention on the Continent, especially in Scandinavia, and has there been adopted as the most suitable form of exhibition illustrative of national culture. The essential feature of this type of museum is that the exhibits, instead of being together under one roof, are housed in a number of separate buildings grouped together in a park or open space. Each building is an actual dwelling of distinctive type, characteristic of a period or a province, and the contents are the appropriate furniture and domestic utensils and appliances. Each room is furnished according to its original purpose.

Period Buildings.

In the English open-air museum, as the suggestion stands, the actual peasants' cottages of different periods and of different types will be arranged on this plan, different alcoves representing kitchen, bedroom, and so forth. Provision will be made in out-buildings, in the wind and water mill, the smithy, carpenter's quarters, and so on for the representation of the village arts and crafts, among which the implements and appurtenances of agriculture will naturally take a prominent place. The reconstructed village will have as its centre the village green with its stocks, pound, and market. In time, if space allows, the exhibits will range in historical sequence at least from the close of the Roman occupation, or possibly earlier, down to recent times.

The Example of Wales.

The recently instituted folk-galleries in the National Museum of Wales at Cardiff have in part achieved the plan, different alcoves representing kitchen, bedroom, and so forth. Provision will be made in out-buildings, in the wind and water mill, the smithy, carpenter's quarters, and so on for the representation of the village arts and crafts, among which the implements and appurtenances of agriculture will naturally take a prominent place. The reconstructed village will have as its centre the village green with its stocks, pound, and market. In time, if space allows, the exhibits will range in historical sequence at least from the close of the Roman occupation, or possibly earlier, down to recent times.

Arousing Public Interest.

It is an easy matter for the specialist to overrate the educational influence of a museum. By the average individual it is too often regarded as a repository for the curious and the obsolete. The popularity of the open-air culture museum in Scandinavia is remarkable. It has aroused the greatest interest among the people in their national history and culture. There is no reason to think that the result will be different in this country, and perhaps when the visitor to the open-air museum is able to follow the thread of continuity in the life of his ancestors, as exhibited in the surroundings in which they actually lived and among the tools and utensils they handled, there may be borne upon him an understanding of the function of tradition as a key to the national genius which has made for stability among the changes we call progress.

CHINESE IN AUSTRALIA.

ALLEGED INDIGNITIES.

PREMIER'S REPLY TO PROTEST.

Correspondence which passed between the Prime Minister of Australia (Mr. Scullin) and the Consul-General for China (Mr. F. T. Sung) recently, in regard to the alleged indignities imposed upon Chinese nationals, by Customs officials has been made available. Mr. Sung protested against the taking of finger-prints, and said that it was difficult to convince the average Chinese that the practice was followed for other than criminal purposes. In regard to the ban on the entry of wives of Chinese people resident in Australia, Mr. Sung pointed out that in 1928 there were 13,614 Chinese males, and only 185 Chinese females in Australia, and remarked that conditions resulting from the refusal to lift the ban tended to immorality or to increasing the number of marriages with Australian women. An effort was being made to obtain a complete register of the Chinese in Australia, and it was urged that when it was established, all registered Chinese should be free from liability to arrest, trial, and deportation, even though included in this number there might be a few prohibited immigrants. In his reply, Mr. Scullin said:—"The question of the discontinuance of the practice of taking finger-prints of Chinese has been considered by the Commonwealth Government with the greatest sympathy and with a full appreciation of the grounds of your objection to the practice, but, in view of all the circumstances, they feel that it

BULLET IN A GAS METER.

SOLDIER IMPERILS GUARDS' BARRACKS.

The statement that when a soldier shot himself through the head
at Chelsea Barracks, the bullet entered a large gas meter and
"might have blown up" the whole barracks if the meter had not been disconnected, was made by an
I.A.M.C. captain at a Chelsea
quest on Philip Hedley Soppitt, aged thirty-five, a private, of the 1st Coldstream Guards.
Soppitt was found dead with a gunshot wound in his head in a basement behind a large gas meter at the barracks. A rifle which had been discharged was held to his mouth by his left hand.
He was found after he had been reported missing from church parade.
Captain J. H. Robinson,
I.A.M.C., said that the bullet had blown out the left side of Soppitt's skull and afterwards penetrated
the gas meter.
"Fortunately this gas meter was disconnected some time ago," said Captain Robinson, "otherwise the whole barracks might have been blown up. It is one of the largest meters I have seen, and is about half the size of this court."

£980 MISSING.

"LENT TO CUSTOMER" PLEA.

What was described as "an almost unbelievable story," but which the police court missionary said was nevertheless true, was told at Marylebone last month.

Frank Tappin (27), of Maxwell
Parkroad, Hounslow, pleaded guilty to stealing £980 from his employer, John George Storey, wine merchant, trading as Messrs. Sollars and Cowley, at Porchester-road, Bayswater.

A solicitor said Tappin stated that the whole amount had been handed to a customer of the firm,
Mr. Guy Thomas, who was now
at Caldecot, Heli, Nunceaton.

Mr. Thomas, he said, owed them about £800, and had told him that if he had ready money he could puttle the account.

The missionary, Mr. Boswell, said he knew Mr. Thomas, who was now in an inebriate's home.

Thomas (continued Mr. Boswell) had been obsessed for years with the idea of big deals, which never came to anything. There was no doubt that Tappin genuinely believed the money would be repaid.
Tappin was remanded.

THE SILVER SCREEN.

"TALKIES" AT THE MAJESTIC.

EXCELLENT RESULTS FROM NEW MACHINERY.

The Majestic Theatre, Nathan Road, Kowloon, inaugurates to-day
a new era for Kowloon picture fans
by showing the all-talking, singing and dancing picture, "Broadway Babies." This is the first talking picture to be shown on the Peninsula, and the management of the Majestic are to be congratulated on their enterprise.

For some time past, the new machinery has been in the process of being installed, with the result to-day that the Majestic is in a position to offer patrons as good entertainment as any given by talkie theatres on the island, the machinery being exactly the same as that in the Hong Kong houses.

One of our representatives had the privilege and pleasure of being present at a preview of "Broadway Babies" yesterday. Besides the screening of the picture which was thoroughly enjoyable, the Majestic seems to be admirably adapted for the talkies, every note and word was clearly heard, and the synchronisation of tone and picture was perfect.

Much could be written about the film, which is crammed with bright songs and snappy dances. Piquant Alice White as a Broadway chorine holds the stage most of the time but is ably assisted by many other artists. There is plenty of love interest and lots of thrills. The Majestic Theatre's motto seems to be:—"A comfortable theatre, with good shows at moderate prices."

"PARAMOUNT ON PARADE" DELIGHTS CROWD.

"Paramount on Parade," opened its first run at the Central Theatre last night. It is easily one of the cleverest, smartest motion pictures ever made. Some of it is in technicolour.

Every important player in the Paramount Company is in the picture, and everyone of them does something big, grand, delightfully entertaining. There is none of the business of dragging in names just to swell the cast. Each number of this cast entertains.

A spirit of charming intimacy permeates the picture. The performers meet the audience more than half way and lead it into the joyful frolic of fun and gaiety. It is like nothing so much as a jovial Hollywood Party, with the greatest entertainers in the world on hand to provide the amusement and act
as even-thoughtful hosts.

The picture must be seen to be appreciated. Buddy Rogers, for instance, and Lillian Roth, and George Bancroft, and Clara Bow
and Nancy Carroll are all in it.

"SUNNY SIDE UP."

"Sunny Side Up" does really keep one's sunny side up for throughout the film there is not one dull moment.

The story opens with Yorkville—
New York City's upper East Side—humming with excitement for it is July 4 and everybody is making merry. Among them are Molly Carr (Janet Gaynor), a clerk at Macy's, Bea (Marjorie White) her girl friend who shares her apartments, Eric Severson (El Brendel)
a grocery man who lives across the hall from the girls and who keeps a brotherly eye on Molly, Eddy (Frank Richardson), Bea's boyfriend, a neekie salesman who aspires to fame as a song writer is also in the party.

While these "workers" are celebrating in their humble way, another party (a decidedly different
one) is going on at the Croywell home in Sea Cliff. Jack, the son and heir of the wealthy Croywells, finds the gaiety of his friends rather boring as his fiancée, Jane Worth (Sharon Lynn) seems to delight in drinking excessively and flirting
outrageously with the other boys.
He turns away in disgust and climbs into his roadster, and without thinking where he is going heads for Yorkville where Molly's party is starting. In trying to avoid a child, he runs into the sidewalk,
and wrecks a platform and a crowd
of angry laughs gather round him.
They threaten him but Eric Severson intervenes and saves him from a mauling.

Then the one thing happens.
Jack meets Molly and they fall in love with each other without realising it, what follows goes to make
"Sunny Side Up" a huge success and those who saw El Brendel in "Hot For Paris" will surely not want to miss him in an even better role.

The film is an exceedingly good one—indeed it is one worthy of all the best that the picture industry has to offer. It is a picture that all presented in a way that makes one feel "pep."

MODERNITY

Your attire, broadly speaking, is built on a foundation of sock. There's a lot of real comfort or otherwise in a pair of socks not necessarily physical comfort.

Let them, your socks, fit your feet like gloves do your hands. Let them be unostentatious, but still sufficiently obvious to proclaim themselves as good socks. If they are good socks. If, in short, they are our socks.

There's not a cheap-looking sock among all we have to show you and we can still surprise you pleasantly with the price we ask.

SWATOW INCIDENT.

FRENCH STEAMER
BOYCOTTED.

HOTEL TOUT KILLED IN FRACAS.

According to a Chinese Press report from Swatow, a French steamer is in trouble with the Chinese authorities and public there in consequence of an incident in which a Chinese worker was killed.

It appears, according to the report, that a certain French steamer arrived at Swatow from Saigon on the 3rd instant, when some hotel and boarding house tried to climb on board from sampans.

The captain, a Frenchman, ordered the Annamese sailors to stop them by turning a water pipe on them. Meanwhile, the sailors assaulted the touts and killed one of them and injured six. The body of the man who was killed was thrown overboard, and the injured were rescued by the water police and taken to hospital. The police arrested the Chinese compradors of the steamer.

Ship's Compradors Held.

The French Consul at Swatow requested the authorities the following day to release the arrested compradors but this was refused. The General Workers' Union has notified the workers not to unload cargo from the steamer and to boycott the vessel. The public has requested the authorities to demand that the French Consul shall punish the ringleaders, that he shall tender officially an apology to the Chinese Government, that he shall compensate the injured and the family of the man who was killed and that he shall guarantee that such an incident will not occur again.

The steamer was detained after the incident but was allowed to leave Swatow on the 5th when the French Consul promised to hold himself responsible for the settlement of the affair. A series of public meetings were held to discuss measures to deal with the case. The workers have decided that unless the case is satisfactorily settled they will boycott French merchants in Swatow in addition to French steamers.

TWO NEW VISITORS TO THE PORT.

GOLDEN HORN AND LONDONIER.

Two vessels which have never visited this port before figure in yesterday's list of arrivals, these being the American vessel Golden Horn and the Belgian steamer Londonier. They both arrived on Wednesday afternoon.

The s.s. Golden Horn (4,011 tons net) left Los Angeles on August 30 and San Francisco on September 5 for Hong Kong, bringing with her 1,225 tons of general cargo for the Colony and 2,244 tons for through ports. She is under the command of Capt. A. Crookery with a crew of 33. Her local agents are the States Steamship Company. The Londonier (Capt. J. Priel) left Antwerp for the East on September 1, and sailed from Singapore for Hong Kong on October 3. She has a crew of 40 Europeans and brought in 1,150 tons of general cargo for Hong Kong and 5,250 tons for through ports.

The Londonier is a steel screw steamer of 5,158 tons gross and 3,893 tons net. She was built in 1919 by Lloyd Royal Belge (Gt. Britain), Ltd., at Glasgow for the Belgian Lloyd, for whom the Bank Line are the local agents.

Registered at Antwerp, the Londonier has a length of 400.3 feet, a beam of 32.3 feet and a depth of 23.5 feet. Her engines, which were installed by D. & W. Henderson & Co., Glasgow, are capable of developing 517 N.H.P.

ANOTHER HAUL OF HEROIN.

CONCEALED IN CARGO OF JAM AND GLASS.

A large haul of heroin was made by Revenue Officers from the s.s. Hilda which arrived from Saigon on Wednesday and sailed again later for Shanghai.

It was stated that the heroin was cleverly concealed among a consignment of jam and glass. The source of the consignment is now being traced by the authorities who were enabled to lay hands on the heroin in the first place by reason of certain information which reached them.

On the vessel's arrival in harbour a party of Revenue Officers boarded the boat and the consignment was seized. Some of the jam was examined, and the authorities came upon the drug. It is understood that the heroin was not meant for Hong Kong.

CHEN MING SHU'S VISIT.

MEETS SIR WILLIAM PEEL
FOR FIRST TIME.

URGENT SUMMONS FROM NANKING.

At 6 a.m. yesterday, the Chinese gunboat Chung San, with General Chen Ming Shu, Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, on board, arrived in port and tied up to a buoy in the Kowloon Naval Anchorage.

General Chen was accompanied by Madame Chen, Mayor Lam Wan Koy of Greater Canton, Commissioner Tang Yin Wah of Reconstruction, Commander Tsai Ting Kai of the 6th Route Army, General Wong Keung, and Messrs. Yeung Kin Ping and Cheung Kung Ngai.

At 7.30 a.m., Captain Colman, A.D.C. to H.E. the Governor, Sir William Peel, K.B.E., C.M.G., accompanied by the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., and the Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso, O.B.E., LL.D., embarked on the Government launch Britannia at Queen's Pier and proceeded to the Chung San to pay a call on General Chen.

Call on the Governor.

Later General Chen, accompanied by the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall and party, came ashore and proceeded to Government House, where the two present heads of the Governments of Hong Kong and Canton met for the first time. They conversed for over an hour.

At about 9.15 a.m., General Chen and his party, accompanied by Capt. Colman, left Government House and drove back to Queen's Pier and proceeded to Dr. Li's yacht to the No. 5 Kowloon Wharf and embarked on the N.Y.K. m.s. Chichibu Maru, on which he is proceeding to Shanghai, whence he will travel to Nanking.

Urgent Matters.

The sudden departure from Canton of practically all the chief officials of the Government has given rise to conflicting reports. To-day, the Double-Tenth, is a red-letter day of paramount significance to Nationalist China, and, according to reports of the last few days, a grand military parade and other ceremonies were to have been part of the celebrations in Canton as in other places, engaging the attention of all the leading politicians.

That General Chen and other members of his Government have been constrained to leave on the eve of the event is regarded as an index of the urgency and importance of their mission.

TOURIST SHIP ARRIVES THIS MONTH.

ROUND-THE-PACIFIC
CRUISE.

The Matson Navigation Company, owners of the cruise ship "Malolo" have learned from experience in handling tourist cruises, that their passengers do not appreciate having huge crowds of visitors from shore going over the ship while in port. Consequently, they have decided this year that the vessel will not be thrown open to the public. Neither will they permit any peddlers to do business on board.

Any persons, however, having legitimate business on board the "Malolo" or wishing to visit friends on board, or those persons interested in travel can secure a pass from the General Agent of the Robert Dollar Company permitting them on board.

The s.s. Malolo which is the pride of the Matson fleet, will arrive in Hong Kong on the morning of October 23 from Shanghai, and will sail at 6 p.m. on October 23 for Manila and thence on her round-the-Pacific cruise. She has a large crowd of tourists for whom a very enjoyable shore programme has been arranged under the guidance of the American Express Company.

The obligation of this palatial cruise vessel throughout the Orient has been placed in the care of the Dollar Steamship Line.

Fondness of pretty frocks was at Aldershot Juvenile Court recently stated to be the cause of the downfall of a 15-year-old girl, who was accused of stealing 10s. from her uncle, who said he had missed various sums. The girl tearfully admitted having stolen £10, and two fashionable silk frocks, which she said she had bought with the money. When asked how she got the money, she pleaded: "I will be good if you let me off this time." She was remanded with a view to being sent to a home.

"SUNNY SIDE UP!"

RIALTO RUMOUR
DISPELLED.

Whether the rumour mentioned in this column yesterday was of mischievous origin or not, the fact is that there was a widely circulated and highly circumstantial rumour concerning the Government's plan for raising revenue. Probably many of the rumours which pass up and down Ice House Street are mischievous, but not many of them are of wide and general interest, as this particular report undoubtedly was.

Yesterday the doubts of the previous day were dispelled. An emphatic denial had been given in official quarters to the suggestion that the Government was contemplating any other form of taxation beyond that already revealed in the Budget for 1931.

Consequently, the gloom which fell over the Rialto on Wednesday speedily vanished yesterday, and brokers stood smiling happily in the sunshine, eagerly talking "shop" or discussing the prospects of the week-end race-meeting.

THE UNIVERSITY'S £265,000.

HOW IT MAY BE UTILISED.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S VIEWS.

NO NEW FACULTY TO BE ESTABLISHED.

Mr. W. W. Hornell, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Hong Kong, interviewed yesterday by a representative of the Daily Press in connection with the grant of £265,000 to the University from the Boxer Indemnity fund, stated that the money, when received, would probably be invested in London.

Anticipating receiving interest of 4½ per cent. on the money, the University would then be receiving an annual income of, roughly, £12,500, which at an exchange of 1/3d. would amount to $200,000 per annum.

Asked how this money would be spent, Mr. Hornell said:—

"This is for the general funds of the University, and it seems unlikely that the University will start any new faculty, such as a faculty for Chinese."

Local Government Grant Still Needed.

The Vice-Chancellor was asked whether, in view of this new income, it would be necessary for the Hong Kong Government to grant an annual sum of $300,000 to the University. He replied:—

"It will be necessary for the Government to continue the grant of $300,000 which has recently been made. This annual grant is subject to re-consideration with reference to the dollar. The Government have distinctly stated in their letter that this grant is not to be repayable from the Boxer Indemnity."

Mr. Hornell pointed out that this Boxer Indemnity grant to the University did not absolve the Hong Kong Government from making its contribution. The Vice-Chancellor could not say when the money will be received here, but when it comes it will be applied to improve the efficiency of the University.

Higher Efficiency.

The general standard of the University, while high, needed butressing in several directions, and it is for this purpose that the funds will be applied. "A better state of efficiency will be our aim," said the Vice-Chancellor.

As to the investment of the money in London instead of in Hong Kong, the Vice-Chancellor, in reply to a question by our representative, indicated that it was no easy task to find a 4½ per cent. investment in the Colony for such a big sum.

Story of the Grant.

The Vice-Chancellor very courteously explained how the grant came about. In 1923 the Willingdon Commission was sent to China from London and, on receiving news of this, the University authorities framed a scheme of development and submitted it to the delegation for consideration. The delegation, however, did not come to Hong Kong. Canton at the time was in the hands of a body of extremists who had during the previous year worked up a general strike and a boycott against Hong Kong as a first step towards the elimination of British interests and influence in China. The delegation's report explained that the Chinese members did not like the idea of coming to Hong Kong unless they could at the same time visit Canton. However, Lord Willingdon came to Hong Kong personally before he left the East, and included in the report a eulogy of the University.

Million Pounds Asked For.

The University applied to the Delegation for a grant of over £1,000,000. At that time a Board of Trustees for the China Indemnity Fund was established in China, for a grant made to London would be referred back to this Board. (Continued at foot of next column.)

LANCASHIRE YARN IN RHYME.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—In reference to your sub-leader in to-day's issue, I enclose a few verses received from Manchester regarding the Lancashire Cotton Corporation (L.C.C.), which may be of interest to your readers. Yours, etc.,

Hong Kong, Oct. 9.

[TUNE: The Church's Own Salvation.]

I. We are the cotton saviours, The boys of the L.C.C., We cannot spin, we cannot weave, What blooming use are we? And yet we sell our products, As cheaply as can be; You can have our yarn at sixpence, Our cloth we give you free.

II. Some say we're losing money— It's possible they're right, But to keep our cushty billets, We'll make a damned good fight. The Press it cheers us daily, And the public allows it neat, So what the hell does it matter Till they see our balance-sheet?

III. We sell our yarn for a tanner, But if cotton has a fall, We deliver it free of carriage, And you needn't pay us at all. We all know Duggie Stuart, His kindness is untold, But for giving something for nothing, Sir Kenneth's got him cold.

IV. The Bank of England loves us, They've millions to spend, It's really awfully splendid, Whenever will it end? Although we make no profits, It's good enough for me, So God help the Bank of England! And God bless the L.C.C.!

"AN ANGEL FROM HEAVEN."

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—If I read the report of the Realty Company's meeting, it would appear that Lane, Crawford, Ltd., acquired the fine building known as Exchange Building without the expenditure of one cent but merely appending their name to a few documents, and was thus ensured of an income of $70,000 or thereabouts out of the rentals.

The expression "Angel from Heaven" was used at another Public Company's meeting some time ago, but if anyone deserves that appellation surely the Realty Co. has first claim.

It is better to be "in the know" in Hong Kong than to be rich, for if you are rich you might lose your money in the Stock Exchange, but if you are "in the know" you are bound to make money.

Had I known of the terms of the sale of Exchange Building I would have bought Lane Crawford shares, and if I had bought Lane Crawford shares I would have now made $2 per share or over 100 per cent. in a short period. What a game! Yours, etc.,

AN ENLIGHTENED OBSERVER.
Hong Kong, Oct. 9.

However, towards the end of 1923, the idea of handing the money back to the Nanking Government (on condition that it was spent on British railway and other material) was adopted, and in May, 1929, before the General Election in Great Britain, Sir Miles Lampson was negotiating with the Nanking Government on this point. When the present Labour Government came into power they wanted more effective safeguards, and Sir Miles Lampson again opened negotiations with the Nanking Government, with the result that he has now come to a settlement, and the allocation of £265,000 to the Hong Kong University is part of that settlement.

The other £200,000 mentioned in Reuter's cable, said Mr. Hornell, was to be used to improve cultural relations between Great Britain and China in various ways, among which would be the bringing of Chinese lecturers to British Universities.

No Extension of Faculty.

The Vice-Chancellor concluded the interview by saying:—"The application of the money granted to this University will depend on the University authorities, and on the Finance Committee and Council. I am not anticipating any new development except the bringing of this University to a greater state of efficiency."

"DOUBLE TENTH" AT CANTON.

MAGNIFICENT CELEBRATION IN CITY OF RAMS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, Oct. 9.

To-morrow being the "Double Tenth," Canton is preparing to stage the biggest celebration of the kind in history. The Government has declared that a celebration of unprecedented magnitude should take place at this time, because, with the casting of the last reactionary forces under Feng Yu Hsiang and Yen Hsi Shan, the real unification of the country has been achieved for the first time. Pailaus of exquisite beauty, bearing two huge Chinese characters representing "Double Tenth," are being erected everywhere for the occasion.

These pailaus are to be illuminated with electric lights at night. All the Government buildings in the city are being similarly decorated, and lighted.

To-morrow morning a big military review will take place on the East Parade Ground. General Chen Tsai Tong will review his troops. At night a big lantern parade through the principal thoroughfares of the city will take place. The procession will start from the Sun Yat Sen University campus, and every public organisation and school in the city will take part.

The day has been declared a general holiday, and public dancing, which is not ordinarily allowed in Canton, will be permitted for the day.

U.S. CONSUL-GENERAL AT CANTON.

FAREWELL BANQUET TO MR. DOUGLAS JENKINS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, Oct. 9.

General Cheng Ming Shu and General Chen Tsai Tong gave a farewell banquet last night at Government House to Mr. Douglas Jenkins, the American Consul-General in Canton, who is being transferred to Shanghai, and Mrs. Jenkins. Among those present at the gathering were Mr. Hsu Chung Chang, Commissioner of Civil Affairs; Mr. Pan Xi Mo, Commissioner of Finance; Mr. Kin Tsang, Chinese Commissioner of Education; Mr. Tang Yin Wo, Commissioner of Reconstruction; Mayor Lin Wan Koi; Admiral Chen Chak; General Au Yang Kui; Mr. Leung Tai Wai of the Municipal Government and a number of foreigners.

After the banquet General Chen Ming Shu delivered a short speech in praise of the excellent work of the departing American Consul-General in promoting Sino-American friendship.

The new American Consul-General, Mr. Ballantine, accompanied by Mr. Jenkins, visited Mayor Lin Wan Koi at his office yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Afterwards the party went to the Provincial Government House and visited General Chen Ming Shu.

PARTNER IN COURT.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT FROM CHINESE FIRM.

Before Mr. E. H. Williams yesterday a Chinese named Ng Kwong Ting, described as a partner of the Yee Tung shipping firm, was charged with the alleged embezzlement of $4,750, the property of the firm.

The complainant is Dr. Lam Yung Hi, another partner of the same firm, who is medical officer on board the s.s. Seistan, owned by the company.

A remand was asked for in order that Dr. Lam, who is at present on the Seistan may be present. This was granted by the Magistrate, bail of $5,000 being fixed.

Mr. E. S. O. Brook was for the prosecution and Mr. J. M. D'Almeida, Remedios for the defence.

H.M.S. CORNWALL.

LAST RUGGER MATCH IN CHINA.

The Cornwall's pack will play their last game of rugger in China on Monday when they meet the Hong Kong Football Club (Rugby section) at Happy Valley.

A close game is expected, though in fairness to the sailors it should be mentioned that they have had no training since their last game in Japan in April.

On the way home, the Cornwall will play teams in Singapore, the Malay Command, the Welsh Regiment, and the Singapore side, while their second XV. will have games with the Island's XV, Royal Artillery and Welch Regt, 2nd XV.

UNUSUAL MOTOR ACCIDENT.

CAR RAMMED BY IRON GIRDER.

An accident in Hennessey Road on September 27 was mentioned at the Central Magistracy yesterday when Mr. E. H. Williams held a Coroner's inquiry into the death of a coolie.

It was stated in evidence by Revenue Officer Pearce that at 8.30 on the morning in question he was, together with Revenue Officer Grimmitt, driving a car out of Tin Lok Lane into Hennessey Road in a westerly direction.

About twenty-five yards from the end of Tin Lok Lane, witness noticed a coolie, and although he promptly applied the brakes, he could not avert the accident. There was no chance of the car swerving to the right as an east-bound tram-car was passing at the time.

What happened appears to be rather unusual. Two coolies were carrying a long and narrow iron girder between them. The one walking in front had about eight or ten feet of the girder in front of him. They had emerged from a godown near the spot, and in turning round so as to place the girder in a truck drawn up on the side of the road, the front end of the girder was rammed into the motor-car. The effect of this was that both coolies were thrown to the ground, and the girder fallen on one of them, who was fatally injured.

The two Revenue Officers at once rushed the man to hospital, but he died a few hours after admission without regaining consciousness. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned by the Jury, who added that no blame was attached to the driver.

FIRE-CRACKER EXPLOSION.

INQUIRY INTO CHILD'S DEATH.

A six-year-old Chinese girl, who was killed as a result of an explosion caused by fire-crackers in a house at 604, Reclamation Street, Mongkok, formed the subject of a Coroner's inquiry at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Mr. H. R. Butters acted as Coroner assisted by the jury composed of Messrs. B. Pasco (foreman), R. Stock and Lo Ming Chun.

Medical evidence was given by Dr. K. Uttley, medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Hospital, who stated that on September 25 at about 6 p.m. the child was admitted into the hospital suffering from severe burns. She had extensive burns on the face, arms, part of the abdomen and chest and both legs. A post-mortem examination was held which revealed that she died from shock as a result of the burns.

Chung Hi (68) said that she brought a basket containing eight rolls of fire-crackers into the house on April. Two days after she went to the country and did not return till the end of July.

On the day in question she was in the kitchen and did not know what had happened except that she heard an explosion about 4 p.m.

Opus of the Accident.

Pun Sor Tai (10) told the Court that he was inserting fuses into the crackers when deceased. A woman living in the rear cubicle came out and put three joss sticks into an incense burner near the fire-crackers. Deceased took one of the joss sticks and ignited the crackers. Suddenly an explosion occurred and witness ran into the street. He did not know what happened afterwards.

After hearing further evidence, the jury returned the following verdict:—"We find that the deceased died from burns caused by the explosion of Chinese fire-crackers into which deceased was inserting fuses at 604, Reclamation Street, on September 25."

It is understood that as a result of this explosion the manager and the foreman of the Kwong Man Long firm, from which it is alleged the fire-crackers were brought, and the woman who took the crackers into the house will be charged with manslaughter.

LOCAL WEDDING.

ORUOKSHANK—TATLOW.

The marriage took place at St. John's Cathedral on Monday, October 6, of Miss Edna Marija Tatlow daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tatlow, of 9, Portinangle Road, Putney, London S.W.13, and Mr. James Gordon Oruokshank of Imperial Chemical Industries (China) Ltd., Canton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Oruokshank, Wolbeck Street, London.

The Rev. H. A. Hooy officiated and a small reception was held afterwards at the Hong Kong Hotel.

NEW LADY DOCTOR.

MISS RUTTONJEE'S APPOINTMENT.

News has been received from London of the Secretary of State's approval of the addition of another lady doctor to the Medical Service of the Colony.

The lady in question is Miss Parthen H. Ruttonjee, M.B., B.S., who has been already acting temporarily, but whose appointment is now formally confirmed.

Miss Ruttonjee is a Hong Kong girl of whom the Colony in general, and the Parsee community in particular, can be rightly proud. At a very early age she passed the examinations for Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery, and her work has won high appreciation from several members of the Medical Service.

In view of the large number of Indian women in the Colony, who need advice and treatment, the appointment of Miss Ruttonjee to the Medical Service will be very welcome news to the Indian community. Her many friends in Hong Kong will wish Miss Ruttonjee every success in her professional career, and will hope that the great ability she has already shown marks merely the beginning of a long and brilliant term of useful public service.

HONG KONG, OCTOBER 10, 1930.

"FOR VALUE RECEIVED."

Resuming our rapid survey of Civil Service salaries, as set out in the Estimates for 1931, we note that the Attorney-General is down to receive $31,500 instead of the $21,000 paid him for the current year. The Crown Solicitor is to get $21,000 instead of $14,243, and the two Assistant Crown Solicitors $14,494 and $11,562 instead of $8,983 and $7,554. The Official Receiver will himself receive $18,000 instead of $9,000, and the Land Officer $21,000 instead of $14,400, but in all these Departments the good conduct allowances hitherto paid to messengers and other minor employees have been abolished. Personal emoluments to the police force show an increase of from $1,500,000 to $2,100,000. A new post, that of Deputy Inspector-General, accounts for $21,000 in the increased Estimate. The Superintendent and his five assistants will get $70,000 instead of $45,000, and the Chief Detective Inspector $10,500 instead of $6,000. The 18 Inspectors will receive $140,000 in place of their present $92,000, the 37 Sub-Inspectors $230,000 instead of $150,000, the 43 Sergeants $203,000 in place of $132,000, and the 149 Lance-Sergeants $511,000 instead of $337,000.

In the Medical Department expenditure upon personal emoluments shows about the same increase as is found under other heads. The salary of the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services rises from $17,400 to $27,000, that of his deputy from $14,000 to $21,000, and of the Senior Medical Officer from $12,300 to $18,000. Eight other officers will receive $105,000 instead of $72,000, and the radiologist will draw $14,000 in place of $9,300, with a radiographer drawing $5,800 instead of $3,800. In 1930 there was one massive drawing $5,900 plus $800 rent allowance. Next year there will be two; drawing $12,000 plus rent allowances for each. Matrons, sisters, nurses, and probationers also share in the general rise, as do the messengers and coolies, but again the good conduct allowances have been abolished, at a saving of about $80 on the year. The Port Health Officer is down for an increase from $10,000 to $15,000, and his deputy for a rise from $8,000 to $12,000.

Abolition of good conduct allowances to a couple of coolies, amounting to $48 per annum!

The analyst in the Government Laboratory will receive $15,750 instead of $9,800, and his three assistants $25,000 instead of $15,000, with an economy in good conduct allowances of four dollars a week! The veterinary surgeon loses a personal allowance of $1,000, but as his salary is to be increased from $9,000 to $18,000 this loss should not be felt very keenly. Seventeen Class I. sanitary inspectors, now receiving $70,000, are down for $103,000, and 33 Class II. men will get $148,000 instead of $92,000. The Superintendent of the Botanical and Forestry Department, hitherto receiving $9,500, will get $14,250, his assistant will receive $8,700 instead of $5,100, and two supervisors—now drawing $4,500—will get $8,400, but $3,000 each, is to be saved by abolishing the post of assistant supervisor, and withdrawal of the good conduct allowance paid to the incinerator attendant gives a further saving of one dollar per annum!

A GIFT FOR HONG KONG.

So it appears that not all the Boxer Indemnity is going to be spent on buying rolling-stock and railway material in England. Out of the eleven millions sterling which Britain will return to China, almost half a million is to be specifically devoted to educational purposes. Of this amount $235,000 is to go to the Hong-Kong University. This is a long way short of the million and a half sterling which was hoped for, but in these days one must be thankful for small mercies—even Vice-Chancellors of Universities. It is only a few weeks ago that Mr. W. W. HONNELL gave an amusingly graphic description of certain events in May, 1928. "I dashed off to London for six weeks to assist Sir Cecil CLARKE in his daring attempt to loot His Majesty's Treasury of $1,500,000 of the Boxer Indemnity," but the vaults were found to be too well guarded, "and the projected piracy was postponed after much reconnoitring."

There is now no hope of making another raid on Whitehall. Great Britain and China have agreed as to the manner in which the remaining 11 millions sterling of the Boxer Indemnity is to be disposed of. Hong Kong's share—for its University—is definitely earmarked, and although good use could have been made of twice, or even six times that amount, the authorities must be grateful for what they have got—or has been promised them. In another column will be found an interesting interview with the Vice-Chancellor of the University, in which he comments upon the good news just to hand. Mr. HONNELL explains that the Boxer Indemnity grant will not render unnecessary the annual grant to the University from our local Treasury. Nor is it likely that any important innovations or extensions will follow the receipt of this money. Higher efficiency is aimed at rather than the establishment of new Chairs, and an additional annual income of $300,000, in the form of interest on the Boxer Indemnity grant, should go a long way toward removing the deplorable lack of essential accommodation and equipment from which the University has been so long suffering.

Young men in New York have to tread warily nowadays. Recently young women have been operating an up-to-date version of the "badger" game. A young man seated at the wheel of his car is usually the victim picked out by the "supper," a girl who asks him to give her a lift home. Sometimes the girl is refused; often the man falls willingly into the trap. On the way "home" the girl asks him to wait a moment while she goes into a house to see a girl friend. It is then that the plot thickens. As soon as the girl gets back into the car an irate "husband" turns up and demands to know what the motorist is doing with his "wife." Following a usually fearful scene the motorist is ordered to depart with great rapidity for fear that the motorist will realize that he has been hoaxed and robbed.

★ News and Views ★

A tragedy of sensitiveness was unfolded at an inquest at Liverpool recently when a verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind" was returned on a nineteen-year-old youth who hanged himself with a milk scarf from the bed rail at his home. It was stated that he had been married only four days to a girl of eighteen years. He told his wife that he had been asked to put five shillings on a horse for a man whom he knew. He gave the money to a boy to put on the horse; the horse won, and the man should have got about $5, but he found that the boy had failed to make the bet, and he would have to pay the man. A policeman said deceased was unusually sensitive and quiet.

Three negroes rolled dice to determine their prison sentences after they were found guilty of playing dice by Judge Charles W. Woodward at Rockville, Maryland. When the time arrived for them to receive their respective sentences the court said: "Roll two ones, and you get fourteen days. Roll anything else and you get what you make." The men accordingly rolled the dice. "Come, little Joe!" they pleaded to the cubes. (Little Joe is a two twos). But they were unlucky. Stewart Brent "threw" ten days in prison, Frank Butler seven days, and Frank Peters six days.

Mr. Douglas Cowburn, the coroner at a Chamberwell inquest said recently: "Every would-be motorist should be compelled to undergo a course of instruction at a recognised school of motoring before he is allowed to drive his motor-car in the streets."

The Franco-Spanish commercial parleys are continuing and give hope for an early conclusion of a commercial treaty between both states. Spain agrees to a big reduction of taxes on motor cars, luxury articles and wines which affected very heavily French imports. It is believed that Spain obtains the abrogation of the recent law on foreign wines which practically prohibited Spanish wines in France. Much satisfaction is expressed by commercial circles in both nations at the approaching end of a tariff war between both states.

Miss Edith Holden, matron of the Third London General Hospital at Wandsworth Common during the war, was buried in the soldiers' section of Wandsworth Cemetery, S.W., last month. A white wooden cross, similar to those on the graves of soldiers who died in the hospital, was placed at the head of her grave.

No school was properly equipped without a gramophone, declared Major J. T. Bavin, Director of the Education Department, Federation of British Music Industries, at the Summer Course in Music Teaching at Oxford. One of the first things they had to do, he said, was to make people learn music from music, and not through books. Education authorities who saw the real sound work that was being done through gramophones should see that schools were supplied with them instead of relying on private individuals to buy them.

"My brother hit me and gave me this black eye, and then he said, 'I'm sorry. Hit me back.' I did, and the policeman arrested me," said a girl at Tower Bridge Court. A fine of 1s. and 10s. 6d. costs was imposed. The brother paid the fine.

A 72,000,000 contract for public works in Bucharest, including the building of 300 miles of roads, has been awarded by the Rumanian Government to the London firm of Stewart and Partners, Ltd., public works contractors, of Baker-street, W. The British firm secured the contract in the face of competition from German and American firms. It is anticipated that the contract will entail a large demand for British machinery and materials.

Tewfik Rushdy Bey, the Turkish Foreign Minister, last week left the Soviet capital after a round of conferences with Foreign Commissary Litvinoff and his assistant Karakhan. An official communiqué issued with respect to the visit emphasizes that the exchange of opinions between these statesmen showed complete harmony on all important international problems. Furthermore the communiqué states that there is nothing whatever to cloud the existing extremely cordial relations.

At the same time the car cannot be moved from the spot. The apparatus is very small and very cheap.

On the ground that it would encourage firms to secure public contracts with ridiculous tenders, Sunderland Town Council rejected their Health Committee's recommendation to pay $2,000 extra to a local firm who had lost nearly $4,000 in constructing a new Corporation sewer. Looking Back 50 Years.

The British three-masted schooner Auguste, Captain P. Thomson, arrived here yesterday jury-rigged, having been in a typhoon. She reports:—Left Amoy on September 14. On the 27th about 15 miles west of Samasanni Island by dead reckoning encountered a very severe typhoon. At 8 a.m. wind commenced from the west, barometer 23.00, then hauling through N.W.N. to N.E. at 11 p.m. barometer 23.05, wind from the North, blowing a terrific gale, with sea from all quarters, ship entirely on her beam-ends and under water; had to cut away the fore-mast to bring the ship to the wind, sea breaking all over the ship, washing away wheelhouse, binnacle, and boats, and smashing everything in the cabin and fore-cabin. At 3 p.m. the wind began to moderate and barometer rose to 23.75. The next morning sighted two men on a piece of wreck, but could not render them any assistance. Rigged up as much sail as possible and steered for Hong Kong. Arrived here at 11 p.m. and light breeze till arrival.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Oct. 11, 1880.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE AND EMPIRE FREE TRADE.

DELEGATES SUPPORT EMPIRE PREFERENCE AGREEMENTS.

BRITAIN EXCLUSIVELY DEPENDENT UPON IMPORTS.

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.

At the Plenary Session of the Imperial Conference to-day, which discussed Imperial economics, Sir Manubhai Nandshankar Mehta, Premier of Bikaner, Rajputana, and Sir Robert Borden, K.C. (Canada), attended.

In a statement by Mr. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, attention was drawn to the fact that while Empire trade as a whole had developed similarly with that of other Empire countries, the British portion had declined partly owing to the fact that the Dominions had developed their own industries.

Great Britain was almost exclusively dependent on her imports of food and raw materials, and if she were unable to maintain a standard of living she was consequently unable to buy as much as she would like from the Dominions.

Economical Paradox of Over- Production.

Great Britain appreciated the preferences which the Dominions accorded her, but she hoped that the Dominions would not be unkind to the value of the Imperial connection.

Mr. Thomas also dwelt on the economic paradox of over-production, and said that the people were hungry because there was too much wheat in the world, and clothes because there was too much cotton grown. They had got to tackle that problem by realizing that there is a common pool to which we are all going to contribute something.

Australia's Policy.

Mr. James Scullin, the Premier of Australia, in the Conference, said that Australia's policy was to encourage the Australian manufacturer and then secure to British industry the lion's share of the Commonwealth import trade. He would like to see consultations between British and Australian industrialists to make satisfactory adjustments.

New Zealand Premier's Views.

Mr. Forbes, Premier of New Zealand, expressed the opinion that tariff preference was the most effective method of increasing inter-Imperial trade.

Principle of Empire Preference.

Mr. Bennett (Canada) suggested that the Empire nations should subscribe to the principle of Empire preference, and put it into effective operation without delay. He considered that Empire free trade was neither desirable nor feasible and suggested the establishment of committees in each country concerned.

India Prefers Discriminating Preference.

Sir Geoffrey Corbett (India) said that India was ready to consider favourably all schemes designed to encourage the development of trade with all the other countries in the British Commonwealth, but she was not prepared to depart from her present policy of discriminating protection. Therefore, she was unable to commit herself to any general scheme of tariff preferences within the Empire, but must reserve complete freedom to deal with each case as it arose.

Mr. McGilligan, Minister for External Affairs, Irish Free State, in the course of his speech, said that if negotiations for trade agreements were initiated certain members of the Commonwealth, such as South Africa, New Zealand and India, would doubtless realize that while the Irish Free State accorded their exports the full benefit of its preferential duties, they accorded no privileges whatever to the products of the Irish Free State.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Oct. 8.

At the plenary session of the Imperial Conference to-day statements were made on behalf of each country within the Empire on the subject of inter-Imperial economic relations.

It was arranged that the chief delegates should meet to-morrow to consider the subject in the light of these suggestions and declarations.

Economic Position of the Dominions.

The Secretary for the Dominions, Mr. J. H. Thomas, speaking on behalf of the British Government, said the plenary session gave an opportunity for setting out broadly the economic position of the various Dominions, to be developed later in Committee.

The difficulties each of the delegates were experiencing in the economic field were naturally uppermost in all minds, for the world had struck an economic blizzard. The circumstances of the last twelve months not only altered their whole conception of things but had created unprecedented difficulties.

Empire Trade Compared With World Trade.

Examining the facts as recorded in the world trade returns, he said the volume of 1928 trade was roughly 20 per cent. greater than in 1913. Empire trade, as a whole had also increased by just about that amount.

For the same period, however, the United Kingdom's share of that trade was less by 26 per cent.

Turning to 1930, the United Kingdom imports had declined 12 per cent. as compared with the corresponding period of 1929, and exports had declined 19 per cent. Relatively, the United Kingdom was in a more serious situation than the Dominions, where large new industries had developed which were doing the trade hitherto done by Britain.

The United States had also made considerable strides, but her trade had increased mainly in motor cars and oil. It was fair to keep in mind the fact that the period 1913/17, prior to America's entry into the war when Britain was otherwise engaged, gave her a very marked start.

Inter-Imperial Trade.

(Turning to inter-Imperial trade, he said the United Kingdom's total imports were valued at $1,220,000,000, of which imports from the rest of the Empire represented $333,000,000. The total imports into the overseas part of the Empire totalled $778,000,000, whereas imports valued at $334,000,000 came from the rest of the Empire.

The United Kingdom's total imports of food, drink, tobacco and raw materials amount to $737,000,000, whereas $270,000,000 came from the rest of the Empire, while imports into the overseas parts of the Empire of manufactured products totalled $448,000,000, of which $213,000,000 came from the rest of the Empire.

Figures for Each Dominion.

A detailed examination of the figures for each Dominion showed the following position:—

United Kingdom imports from Canada, 45 millions; exports to Canada, 45 millions.

United Kingdom imports from Australia, 55 millions; exports to Australia, 54 millions.

From New Zealand 47½ millions; to New Zealand, 21 millions.

From South Africa, 24 millions; to South Africa, 32 millions.

From Irish Free State, 45 millions; to Irish Free State, 36 millions.

While admitting that a great part of $467,000,000 worth of food products and raw materials imported from foreign countries could be produced in the Empire and that it was desirable and necessary to see how far inter-Imperial trade could be improved, no one would assume for a moment that Britain could entirely cut herself off from the rest of the world.

And, on the other hand, a great part of the $235,000,000 of manufactured goods imported into the rest of the Empire from foreign countries could be manufactured in the United Kingdom.

Britain's Tremendous Taxation Burden.

Proceeding, he referred to the unemployment figure, and to the tremendous burden of taxation carried by Britain, which was still maintaining a standard of social services second to none in the world.

The unfortunate economic difficulties, which affected Britain must be by the very nature of things also imposed on the Dominions, from which Britain was, in consequence, unable to buy that which we should like to do.

"In the same way you are equally affected. It is because of that common interest, because we are dependent and interdependent, because our difficulties affect you, that I feel we have a common interest in discussing these problems.

We, as a Government and a people appreciate to the full the preferences, however they are given, that you offer to the Old Country. It is on your part a frank gesture and a recognition of your Imperial interests and your anxiety to help, but I am sure on the other hand that you are not unkind of the value of the Imperial connection.

CHIANG KAI SHEK AT NANKING.

RECEIVES POWERS
REPRESENTATIVES TO-DAY.

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

NANKING, Oct. 9.

Leaving Chengchow by air and escorted by military aeroplanes, Chiang Kai Shek arrived at Nanking this afternoon shortly after five o'clock.

So secret was the news of his departure kept that it was not known till this afternoon that he was en route to Nanking.

The city was gaily decorated for the occasion of the "Double Tenth" celebrations, banners extolling Chiang Kai Shek for his victories flying everywhere.

Chiang Kai Shek will receive the Powers' representatives at the "Double Tenth" reception at the National Government Office to-morrow morning.

(Wah Tin Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.

Acting under instructions from the Peiping Legation Quarters, the various foreign Consuls at Shanghai will leave for Nanking by train this evening to represent their respective Governments in the celebration of the National Day (October 10).

Defence, trustee securities, the work of the Empire Marketing Board are all a contribution that we make towards helping Japan. Probably no nation possesses greater potentialities than those contained within the British Commonwealth of nations. Surely it is not impossible to devise ways and means whereby this trade and these great potentialities can be used for the benefit of the people as a whole.

Canada's Definite Plan.

The Canadian Premier, Mr. R. B. Bennett, put forward a definite plan, founded on the broad principle of Empire protection, based on a common advantage and guided in its application by a need to ensure the welfare of the home producer.

He offered the Mother Country and all other parts of the Empire a preference in the Canadian market in exchange for a like preference in theirs, based upon an addition of ten per centum increase in the prevailing general tariffs, or upon the tariff yet to be created. This rate could not be uniformly applied, but the basis of the proposal was adequate protection of industries existing, or to be established. Thus a certain flexibility in the preferential tariff must be ensured.

This proposed preference should not be considered a step towards "Empire Free Trade" which he believed neither desirable nor possible.

If conceivable, the preferential rate should be lower for raw products or where the Empire supply does not meet the demand and higher where the demand was inadequate to give Empire goods an appreciable advantage over foreign countries.

Economic Conference at Ottawa.

He saw no reason why by creating an additional preference on goods carried on Imperial ocean transport between Empire ports should not be profitably used. If this change in inter-Imperial economic relations was to be made, there should be no delay. He suggested that technical committees be set up in each country of the Empire to complete an inquiry into the effect upon their domestic situation of the proposal. These should be ready within six months. He, therefore, proposed that an economic conference meet again in Ottawa as the guests of Canada early next year to discuss the final reports.

Mr. Scullin's Views.

The Australian Premier, Mr. Scullin, pointed out that nearly forty-five million pounds worth of foreign manufactured goods were each year imported into Australia, which he would like to see shared by the Empire industries. How that could be done was a matter for those engaged in the industries of Australia and Britain to determine, and he thought the methods of consultation should be evolved between their industrialists with a view to making such allocations of the supply of Australia's requirements as should benefit both parties.

His Government would help to bring the suggested allocations into effect.

"If British industry will co-operate in the development of our industries, we will do everything in our power to help you secure the lion's share of our import trade," said Mr. Scullin.

Any Practical Plan.

tariff preference is, in the Australian Government's view, the most satisfactory form of help, but they would co-operate in any practical plan which might be jointly adopted.

As an example of the value of the Australian markets to British manufacturers, Mr. Scullin said that while Argentina and Denmark contained twice as many people as Australia and had a joint import trade almost twice as great, yet $30,000,000 worth of British exports went to Australia as compared with $41,000,000 worth to those two countries.

ECHO OF SHANGHAI MURDER.

INTERESTS OF JUSTICE
DEMAND RETRIAL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.

An echo of the murder of Miss Dorothy Thompson, a British nursing sister, in a lonely spot in Keswick Road two years ago, was heard to-day in the District Court, which ordered the retrial of Wong Ah Ping, the principal accused, who was sentenced to death by the old Provisional Court, the reason advanced for the retrial being that the evidence was inconclusive, which development is due to the fact that the trial records were submitted to Nanking for confirmation, according to the rules of judicial procedure, the latter holding that a retrial is desirable in the interests of justice.

contained twice as many people as Australia and had a joint import trade almost twice as great, yet $30,000,000 worth of British exports went to Australia as compared with $41,000,000 worth to those two countries.

Nevertheless, Britain imported $130,000,000 from Argentina and Denmark as against $24,000,000 from Australia.

Mr. Scullin suggested that a Committee be formed to which he would submit detailed proposals for a policy of economic co-operation.

New Zealand's Preference to British Goods.

Mr. Forbes, New Zealand, dealing with the methods already adopted to increase inter-Imperial trade, said in his opinion tariff preference was the most effective.

He showed by figures that the preference accorded British countries had had great influences in retaining the New Zealand market for Empire goods.

The value of the preference granted last year was $4,883,000 and this year it was estimated it would be $5,621,000.

He would advocate the utmost possible extension of tariff concessions either by a general arrangement or, where necessary, by individual agreements between two or more portions of the Empire, as to bulk purchasing and price stabilization of goods he thought that to administer such a scheme it would be necessary to obtain complete control over the goods affected.

New Zealand's view was adverse to an extension of State trading or of Government interference in commercial matters further than was necessary for the welfare of the people.

Until concrete proposals were brought forward he would suspend judgment. New Zealand entirely agreed that the policy of the United Kingdom was one for the sole decision of her people and Government. In the preference New Zealand had consistently given to British goods, she had never looked for a quid pro quo from Britain, and she did not do so now, but if, after consideration, some measure of preference could be extended to Empire produce, it would be greatly appreciated by the people of New Zealand.

South Africa Cannot Subscribe to Empire Free Trade.

The South African Finance Minister Mr. Havenga, said that Empire Free Trade had been presented as a panacea for all ills, but South Africa could not afford and would not subscribe to such a policy.

South Africa would welcome an extension of trade relations with the Empire by agreements providing for reciprocal tariff benefits. If such an agreement was reached it should be for a sufficiently lengthy period to give confidence and to ensure stability.

Other Views Expressed.

Sir Richard Squires, the Prime Minister of Newfoundland, said that Newfoundland's desire was for the development of such extensive inter-Imperial trade as between the Dominions, Colonies and protectorates and the Home Land as may be possible having regard to the economic conditions of each of the countries affected.

The Irish Free State Minister for External Affairs, Mr. McGilligan pointed out that that country took eighty per cent. of its imports from the Commonwealth to which it sent ninety-four per cent. of its exports. The Irish Free State sincerely desired an extension of this trade, although the development of inter-Imperial trade involved problems, too delicate and complex for solution by mere political formulae.

CHIANG AND FENG AGREEMENT.

RESPONSIBLE FOR KUOMIN-CHUN WITHDRAWAL.

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Oct. 9.

The vernacular papers assert that Chiang Kai Shek has reached an agreement with Feng Yu Hsiang, and declare that the Kuominchun withdrawal was due to this agreement so that the latter should remain undefeated.

The papers draw attention to the fact that Chiang Kai Shek in his recent manifesto exempted Yen Hsi Shan from the proposed amnesty, but not Feng Yu Hsiang, and they declare that Chiang Kai Shek, Chang Hauch Liang and Feng Yu Hsiang will shortly meet at Peiping to discuss the rehabilitation of the country.

"WHITES" DEMANDED.

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 8.

The Soviet Government has sent to Mukden a Note addressed to Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, the Manchurian War Lord, protesting against "the unceasing anti-Soviet activity among 'White' Russians in Manchuria."

The Note insists on the immediate disarming and deportation of "White" bands and the dismissal from the Chinese service of all Russians actively participating in "White" organisations.

REVOLUTION IN BRAZIL.

REBEL FORCES CAPTURE PERNAMBUCO.

[REUTERS' AMERICAN SERVICE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.

According to a message from Buenos Aires, Brazilian rebel forces have captured Pernambuco, after a twenty-four hour struggle.

[Pernambuco is the capital of the State of the same name and is the most important city in Brazil next to the capital, Rio de Janeiro, which is over 1,000 miles to the south.]

A stern struggle is developing in Brazil between the Federal forces and the rebels.

There were 150 casualties before the rebels captured Pernambuco city after much shooting, in which schoolboys participated.

The insurgents have now established a Provisional Government at Pernambuco.

Army Staff Captured.

Federal aircraft have dropped smoke bombs on various towns in Minas Geraes to impress the inhabitants, but it is reported that the rebels have captured the Commander and entire staff of the Federal Army marching towards Rio Grande do Sul, whereupon the captured Commander telegraphed to the President: "I advise you to resign."

Chabot and Pickthorne Meet with Mishap.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 9.

Chabot and Pickthorne, who are engaged on a flight to Australia, met with a mishap on restarting their machine, which buried its nose in the mud, but was extricated and proceeded on its journey.

Hill, who is also engaged on a flight to Australia, successfully took off four hours later, both machines making for Aleppo.

LABOUR'S "BACK TO THE LAND" POLICY.

DEMONSTRATION FARMS
THROUGHOUT BRITAIN.

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.

Amplifying Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's references to the Labour agricultural policy at yesterday's session of the Labour Party Conference at Llandudno, the Rt. Hon. Dr. C. Addison, Minister of Agriculture, addressing the Conference to-day, emphasised that the proposals embodied a means of curtailing unemployment.

The Government, he said, proposed to take powers to acquire land and to start the organisation of committees with a view to giving the unemployed an opportunity of returning to cultivation of the soil.

The Government also proposed to establish demonstration farms throughout the country.

Surprises in Ballot for Executive.

LONDON, Oct. 9.

Features of the ballot for the National Executive of the Labour Party at Llandudno were that Mr. Clynes was at the head of the poll, and that Sir Oswald Mosley (who was defeated last year) was elected, and that Lady Mabel Smith was among the women elected, but Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mr. Morgan Jones (Secretary for the Board of Education) were defeated.

Mr. J. H. Thomas was at the bottom of the poll.

Sir Oswald Mosley had previously secured a notable personal triumph in the debate on unemployment.

GLORIOUS UNCERTAINTY OF THE TURF.

PROSPECTS OF HOLIDAY RACING FULLY DISCUSSED:
ZORHAN STILL A "CERT."

WHAT TO BACK AND WHAT TO AVOID.

SOME SELECTIONS FOR THE PUNTER.

[By "MORNING DEW."]

There can be no doubt that the many counter-attractions arranged for to-day will not in any way diminish the attendance at Happy Valley, when the first of a two days' race-meeting will be held. The entries, published in the Daily Press last Saturday, revealed strong support from owners, and the handicaps will certainly help to make the betting more even.

The weather has kept fine for a whole week, and if it continues some very fast times are due to be recorded, as some of the contenders are showing very convincing form at the moment. That there will be many upsets goes without saying, as the form shown at the last race-meeting was very deceptive, partly due to the heavy going and also to the fact that many jockeys were riding over the weight allotted by the handicapper.

It is gratifying to be able to record that there will be no scarcity of jockeys to-day. Among those who will be seen in the saddle will be Messrs. Heard, Frost, da Rosa, Harriman, Backhouse, Pan, Proulx, Reidy, Laing, Charles, and a number of novices.

Steps are being taken to instal a starting-gate, and it will not be long before the present unsatisfactory method of starting will be replaced by something more modern. On some occasions the starter's task has been a very trying one.

Kwangtung Handicap "A" Class.

Over a mile, this race will probably attract Zorhan, in which case it is all over bar shouting. Royal Flush is showing a touch of very good form at the moment, and can be fully expected to extend the unbeaten Zorhan, but there can be no doubt as to which is the better animal. Zorhan's chances here are very definite, the more so as Mr. Frost will be in the saddle. Black Beauty, if he will behave properly, might take the remaining place.

Kwangtung Handicap "C" Class.

This is a very open race. Three winners at the last meeting and several placed ponies can be found here, and the weights are puzzling. Christmas Belle, in view of his success in the "B" Class, ought to command a good following here and should just about win. The Partridge will be in the hands of Mr. Harriman this time, and can be relied upon to put up a good show. The distance, however, is a bit against him. The third place may be occupied either by Blue Boy, Gay Cabellero, Huntington, or Empress Hall. The subs that are classified here do not appear to have a look-in. There is bound to be a big field, however.

Kwangtung Handicap "H" Miles.

This event looks like an easy thing for Carnival Eve, who is in the pink of condition. This animal should have no difficulty in finding his way back to a "A" class. Many will recall his excellent performance at the Annual Meeting, when he accounted for Adam in the excellent time of 2 minutes 35.2 seconds. He was then carrying 131 pounds. Both Misty Eve and New Year's Eve will have to concede four pounds if they start against Carnival Eve, and while I feel these ponies are good enough for a place, I do not think either can win. The clouds may redeem himself here, and will probably do it, as there is nothing lacking about him on the score of condition. Little Thunder might do well again, but a fast race will in all probability wipe out his chances. Orlando may start, but need not be considered.

October Handicap: 1 1/2 Miles.

It is difficult to see which of the "A" Class ponies will prefer this race—which is open to all comers—to the "H" Class event which is reserved for the "A" Class. President Hall is going out definitely here, and I do not believe all the rumour that have been going round about this big-hearted grey being un-

He seems to be as sound as ever, and if beaten to-day his vanquisher must be a much better pony. Nationalist II. will start here also, while The Tiger may be sent out to pick up the place money.

Fukien Plate.

There will probably be a small field here, and Christmas Frolic appears to have the best chance. His principal rival will be Marquis Hall, who is in fine fettle at the moment and may run him very close. Mike is entered here as well, and if saddled should provide Mr. Stanton with a well-deserved win. Four Clubs might also be saddled for this event, and may have something to say about the order of finishing.

Kwangtung Handicap "B" Class.

There will undoubtedly be a big field here. Christmas Chimes, Fifty-Fifty, Monterey Bay, Imperial Hall, Young Pretender, One Third, Chesapeake Bay, King's Counsel, King's Colour, O-Moon, and Misty Eve are a few of the likely starters.

Christmas Chimes appears to have the best chance on paper, but I should not be surprised to see him unplaced. He made a poor show on his last public appearance. King's Colour is shaping well, and might bring home the bacon. Chesapeake Bay has a good outside chance, but has to wrestle with the problem of weight. Fifty-Fifty, if started, will command a big following, as should Monterey Bay. The likely finishing order is given under the selections which readers will find below.

Kwangtung Handicap "D" Class.

Here is a good race between a class of indifferent performers. Teuchit, after his fine win a fortnight ago, should be well in the limelight. Glory is in good condition, as is Sunning. Ploughman is also a likely customer, but the distance is a bit too far. Teuchit should repeat his recent success, with Glory and Sunning taking the remaining places.

Kwangtung Handicap: 1 1/2 Miles.

Windsor Stag, in spite of his weight, should have a walk-over here. Mr. Harriman has the choice between Pickle and Piccolilli, and his selection will put up the biggest opposition. King's Colony, if retained for this event, ought to make a good show, and Peppercorn is the only other likely starter which may be expected to make any difference to the result.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The selections for to-day are as follows:

CRICKET NOTES.

A SLOW START.

R. ABBIT'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Cricket seems a little bit slow in getting off the mark this year, in spite of the fact that the weather has been cooler than usual. There are, of course, several other things going on at present. The Volunteer Sports at the K.C.C. ground blanketed last Saturday for the Kowloon first eleven, while to-morrow the extra Race Meeting rather clashes. As a matter of fact these extra meetings do clash once or twice with cricket later on in the season. It is a pity, but I suppose it cannot be helped.

One sound idea is the arranging of matches on Friday and Saturday afternoons when Friday happens to be a holiday. Thus to-day and to-morrow afternoon the H.K.C.C. first eleven play a match at the K.O.O. ground, while their second team are at home to the Kowloon seconds.

H.K.C.C. at Kowloon.

The game at Kowloon will be most interesting. Matters are not finally settled but in all probability Owen-Hughes will captain the first eleven, consisting of himself, A. C. I. Bowker, A. Reid, A. H. Mussen, A. C. Beck, J. L. Hiley, E. R. Duckitt, G. R. Moore, E. J. R. Mitchell, G. E. R. Divott, and K. H. Batger. There is a tremendous lot of bowling in it, as in addition to our hardy perennials, J. L. Hiley, a new-comer, is quite a good medium to fast bowler, whose figures last Saturday in no way represented his bowling. A very interesting match should be seen.

The Combined School.

The Civil Service met a team from the Combined Schools last Saturday. It is not to be considered as a first eleven fixture, I learn, but the C.S. tried out some of their new men. Besides batting well, R. M. Wood was excellent in the field and seems pretty sure of a place in the first eleven if he can maintain his form. Richardson bowled uncommonly well, and Griffiths showed that he is a sound bat. I gather the Schools showed considerable promise.

I trust that there will be more of interest to report next week.

ARMY HARBOUR RACE.

GUNNER FORRESTER WINS.

The annual Army Harbour Race was swum yesterday under fine weather conditions, the course being from the Police Pier, Kowloon, to the sea-wall by the Victoria Recreation Club.

Quite a crowd gathered in the Praya to see Gunner J. Forrester, Royal Artillery, win the race by a few yards from Bandman F. Jamieson, Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, with Sapper K. G. Evans, Royal Engineers, a good third, some twenty yards behind.

After the race H.E. the General Officer Commanding (Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.) presented the prizes to the winners and certificates to those who completed the course.

In a short speech His Excellency congratulated the winners and he said that he would also like to say how pleased he was to see those who were left behind making an effort to complete the course. Three cheers for Major-General Sandilands terminated the gathering.

The order of finishing was:—Gnr. Forrester, R.A., Bdm. F. Jamieson, A. & S.H., L/Bdr. L. Heskeith, R.A., Bdm. Medlin, S.L.I., Pte. Parkes, S.L.I., Lt. Dangerfield, R.A., Trump. Oliver, R.A., Pte. LAWN BOWLS OPEN SINGLES.

CHAMPION ENTERS THE SEMI-FINAL.

LAST YEAR'S SCORE REPEATED.

On the Kowloon Bowling Green Club ground yesterday, R. F. Luz, last year's champion, defeated A. W. Grimmitt by 21 shots to 14 and entered the semi-final to meet the winner of the tie between U. M. Omar, and F. C. Goodman. By a coincidence Luz beat Grimmitt by the same margin as last year, when they met in the semi-final round. The game was marked by packed heads and good play.

The champion placed himself at an advantage by taking the first five heads, including three twos, to lead 8-0. Throughout the game he treated his opponent to short heads, while the latter went in for full ones. In the eighth head Luz had three woods closest to the jack when Grimmitt made a beautiful draw to count his first shot. In the 14th head, Luz had to give two away, and Grimmitt followed it up with another three shots to leave a margin of only three points between them.

Luz got going again with a couple, the second coming from a dead draw on the jack. The next head provided good play on the part of the loser in smashing up to count three shots, but the champion again got his last wood on the jack. The game went to 23 heads, the winner snatching the necessary point to win by good play.

The champion invariably put his first wood in front of the jack on the forehead, following it up on the backhand a little through. On the short heads with which Grimmitt had to contend there was little chance left for him to drive, as his opponent adopted accurate and well-thought-out tactics. If anything Grimmitt's woods always seemed to be a trifle heavy.

PING PONG LEAGUE.

JUNIOR DIVISION RESULTS.

Below are the latest results of the junior Ping Pong League:—Fukien A.A. beat Nam Mo A.A. 21 games to 14.

Ho Hong Bank beat Wah Ying Club 27 games to 6.

Hip Keung A.A. beat Hin Kan School 33 games to 2.

Chinese A.A. beat Chinese Catholic 16 games to 17.

Men's Singles Tourney.

Playing in the singles tourney, Leung Lin Chuen defeated Wong Kum Hay by three sets to one; and Yuen Wah Cheuk beat Lai Ying Ho 3-0.

Every golfer offers the same excuse when he drives into another player's hole. "Sorry, old man, I never dreamt I could get so far. Awfully sorry." One player on an Irish course has found that excuse not enough. He drove and hit an elderly player with such force that the man collapsed, and it was some time before the offending golfer could begin. "Sorry, old man," said the elderly victim. "Boy, my niblings, the golick was handed over, and with it was dealt a blow that necessitated the insertion of five stitches in the offending player's head."

HOME FOOTBALL.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE BEAT IRELAND.

WIN BY FIVE GOALS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 8. The Scottish League, winners of the Inter-League tournament last year, retained their title today, in a second match of the series, the Scottish team winning by five goals to nil. There have been 31 games between them so far, the Scottish representatives having won 28 and lost 3, with a goal record of 100 to 26 in their favour.

Third Division League.

In a Third Division (Southern Section) League match, Brighton, playing at home, defeated Swindon by the only goal of the match. F.A. Charity Shield. Sheffield Wednesday and the Arsenal were the teams in the F.A. Charity Shield match. The Arsenal won by two goals to one.

WORLD SERIES BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS RETAIN TITLE.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. Connie Mack's world's baseball champions, the Philadelphia Athletics, retained their title today, defeating the St. Louis Cardinals in the sixth game of the world series by a margin of 7 runs to 1, thus securing four wins.

At one time it appeared probable that the Athletics would make it a four-game series, but after losing two games in a row, the Cardinals came back with some powerful pitching and drew level. They were unable to hold the Athletics in the New York games, however. The six games resulted in 21 runs for the Athletics and twelve for the Cardinals, Philadelphia winning 6-1, 5-2, 0-5, 1-3, 2-0, 7-1.

Baseball Gossip.

IS INTEREST IN BASEBALL DYING?

[By "CENTREFIELD."]

Although the season is not very far advanced, interest in local baseball appears to be on the down grade. The commencement of the football season saw the large crowds that usually attend the ball games in the summer months gradually dwindling in numbers and I doubt very much whether there will be more than a handful of spectators at the ball game to-morrow, with so many attractive football matches on the programme. Besides this, racing and cricket have begun so that only the more enthusiastic fans will journey to Caroline Hill to watch the game. The match scheduled for last Saturday had to be called off and was played shortly after 1.30 p.m. on Sunday. Why that was necessary, I cannot say, unless the baseball authorities thought they would get a better gate than when no football matches were in progress. It was hardly fair on the players, though, having to chase the ball under the sweltering sun.

This was the South China-Filipino game and as expected the former won rather easily. After this was over, the Nippon Club engaged the Texaco crew in their return fixture and the Japanese romped home easy winners. The whole list of fixtures appears to have been rearranged but the Press are comparatively in the dark as regards what matches are going to be played during the week-end. No amended fixture list has been sent in, so that this week it will be a case of no information, no baseball gossip.

Before closing these notes, I wish to say that I shall feel very much obliged if the secretary of the Association will kindly furnish me with a list of the re-arranged fixtures for that will help a great deal when writing these notes.

FAVOURITISM

"As safe and wholesome as good Scotch Whisky is a simile often heard. The wisdom of this apt saying is fully realised when the whisky is—'Highland Nectar'. The rich malt flavour and mellow maturity fully justify its choice."

CAR HANGS OVER RIVER.

"VIOLENT" DRIVER IN A GARDEN WITH TIED FEET.

Two motorists' adventures in a car, which over-ran the Thames embankment near Egham (Surrey) led to the appearance of Ernest Alfred Wermig, a Woking nurseryman, at Chertsey Police Court, where he was fined £10 5s. and costs for being drunk in charge of the car. His licence was suspended for 12 months.

John Anderson said he was in the car when Wermig turned into a lane leading to the river because he wanted to turn the car round to go to Staines. Instead of reversing the vehicle shot forward. The front wheels went over the Thames bank and hung over the river.

Anderson said he scrambled out and called on Wermig to do the same. Wermig, however, tried to back the car which got into an even worse position. Eventually he pulled Wermig out of the car and found he was "rather drunk."

Police-Sergeant Peet said that when he saw Wermig he was lying on his back on the ground, and when he got up he was very violent. He was very drunk and could not stand without assistance.

MIXED SCHOOLING.

MR. LANSBURY'S IDEAL FOR YOUTH.

"I advocate co-education in schools, on the sports fields, and in swimming lakes and baths," said Mr. George Lansbury, the First Commissioner of Works, at Glasgow recently.

He was addressing the Association of Parks and Botanic Gardens Superintendents, and vigorously defended the Hyde Park mixed bathing "Lido," which he originated.

"Everywhere there should be ample provision for bathing," he said. "All swimming baths and pools should be open at all times to boys and girls, men and women."

False Prophecy.

"I have been immensely amused at the sort of criticism expressed in some quarters because the beautiful stretch of water known as the Serpentine was thrown open for the first time for people of both sexes at all hours of the day."

"Some critics prophesied all sorts of evil results, but time has proved how foolish these visions were."

"I believe the more young people are brought up together, the more all that is mysterious disappears from sex knowledge, the more decent, clean, and wholesome will men and women become."

"There is nothing to be ashamed of in a decent body, but a diseased mind is something to be thoroughly ashamed of."

Mr. Lansbury, referred to Sunday games in the parks, said: "My own view is that after noon on Sunday parks and open spaces should be as free and open for decent recreation as on weekdays."

Advocate of "Hiking."

"Those of us who believe in church worship can still carry on as did our forefathers, but we must not make people different by merely preventing them from following their own natural desires."

"Bands and good singing should be available everywhere, and churches should do their part in making people understand that the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath."

Mr. Lansbury also advocated "hiking" for young people. "There is," he said, "a danger that we may forget how to use our limbs, and slowly become robots which can only be moved by machinery."

"When we are young, facing the fresh air, sun, or rain on the King's highway or across moor or fen, common or forest, is best done with a minimum of clothes and little luggage."

"I hope to see our country dotted with hostels within which, for a few coppers, a night's shelter can be obtained."

ENIGMA OF ASTHMA.

SMOKE CITIES AS HEALTH RESORTS.

The smell of a flower, the taste of a strawberry, or of certain kinds of fish, notably eels, mussels, oysters, crabs, and lobsters—all these, as well as many other causes, are liable, in some sensitive subjects, to bring on attacks of asthma.

It is a world-wide complaint, and there are believed to be at least 30,000 sufferers in the British Isles alone.

Having suffered from, and cured himself of the complaint, Mr. Percy Hall, a well-known London physician, has written a book, "Asthma and its Treatment" in which he attempts to "show how the 'modern' natural therapeutic modes can—if used with care and discretion—bring relief to sufferers."

Well in Smoky City.

Hay-fever and asthma, he says, are closely allied conditions, often found together.

One asthmatic may never have attacks while living in the country, but he prunes to them in town. Others do best at the seaside. To some, sea air appears injurious, and they are only well when in a smoky city.

Stimulation of special sensory nerve-endings may cause attacks, so that the mere placing of a morsel of fish in the mouth will immediately cause initial symptoms in some people.

Any food in which the flesh of the pig is included has a particularly poisonous effect upon some asthmatic patients.

Raw bananas and "milk pudding" are other exciting causes.

Ultra-Violet Ray.

Mr. Hall has naturally much to say about various forms of asthma treatment. Among these he considers ultra-violet radiation takes the first place.

Good results have also been reported after hypnosis, and the author says that over 90 per cent of the patients who have been treated in the past by relatives and friends in close touch with the patient may do much to prolong an attack of the complaint.

Money and Markets

HONG KONG SHARES.

BENJAMIN & POTTS' WEEKLY REPORT.

In consequence of the Chinese National holiday falling on a Friday, we have to go to Press a day earlier. Since the issue of our last circular there is very little change to report in the local market which continues quiet, but it is satisfactory to note that there is very little trace of weakness anywhere, for selling has been trifling in amount and prices showed steadiness in most issues. While there has been a good demand for the favourite counters for forward delivery, the cash market, on the whole, was inclined to dullness for the greater part of the week, but there are signs of a recovery towards the close.

Bankers—Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank have recovered to £108.104 (Middle) in London, and shares have changed hands locally at the improved quotation of $1.522.

Marine and Fire Insurances—Cantons show a sharp advance on the week with business done at $1.100 and further sellers at this figure. Unions were realised again at $4.472 and $4.56, and more can be placed at the former rate. Hong Kong Fire is firm at $1.080. China Fire is wanted at $1.000. Underwriters were booked at the outset at $2.80, but closed with buyers at $2.60.

Shipping—Douglas Steamships are still in request at $224. Hong Kong, Canton, & Macao Steamboats have hardened and are enquired for at $224. Waterboats at $32 continue neglected.

Docks, Wharves and Godowns—Kowloon Wharves have advanced to $1.011. Whampoa Docks were sold down to $30. China Providents (Old) were negotiated at $5.15 and $5.20 and there are enquiries at the former rate. There are buyers of Hongkong Wharves at $1.22 and probably a little more would be paid.

Lands, Hotels and Buildings—Hong Kong & Shanghai Hotels have been the medium of a fair turnover at $11.35. Hong Kong Lands have strengthened and were placed up to $75 for the old shares. Hong Kong Realty fetched $8.40. Humphreys Estates have lapsed to a nominal quotation of $16. Shanghai Lands were put through at the enhanced rate of $11.313.

Public Utilities—Hong Kong Electric was dealt in to a fair extent at $78 and $78½, but finished up a shade easier with buyers at $78½. China Lights (Old) have likewise weakened a bit and were sold down to $24½, at which rate there are further buyers. Hong Kong Tramways are on offer at $17.50. Telephones (Partly Paid) were taken off the market at $22½. Peak Tram, both old and new, are unchanged. Star Ferries are still obtainable at $63.

Miscellaneous—Green Island Cements (Combined) were bought in fair quantities up to $17.95, but the demand has since slackened and there are sellers at $17.85. Hong Kong Ropes' Rights' fetched $8.3. Lane Crawford's are quiet, but steadily at $21. Amusements, at $33 nominal, ex the 1930 dividend of $2½ just paid. There are sellers of Hong Kong Government Loan at 8 per cent, premium. Cotton Mills—Ewos can be placed at the improved price of $12.35. Shanghai Cottons remain steady at $15.83.

Rubbers—Plantation Rubber is quoted 3½ d. per lb. and the following are the latest cable quotations received from Shanghai:—

Buyers.
Anglo-Java.....$4.25
Anglo-Dutch.....1.75
Batu Anans......80
Chemors......80
Consolidated.....1.40
Kroonwicks.....1.00
Repahs......70
Tanah Merah.....1.10

Exchange—The T.T. rate on London is 1/3 10/16 and on Shanghai 81. Forward Settlement Days:—October 23, November 23 and December 23, 1930.

Decline in Tin Market. We are advised by Messrs. Pen-treath & Co. that they have received the following cable from Messrs. Hornby, Hemelryk & Co., Liverpool:—The tin market has declined in consequence of disagreement among the members of the Tin Producers Association.

Guards Officer and his Car. An officer of the Coldstream Guards stated in Kingston (Surrey) Police Court last month that he drove at 70 miles an hour on Kingston by-pass in pursuit of another motorist.

William Henry Hall, a licensed victualler, of Clapham Road, Stockwell, S.W., was summoned for alleged dangerous driving on the by-pass.

Lieut. Joseph Chamberlain, Coldstream Guards, said that as he was driving on the by-pass a small car in front pulled out to pass cyclist.

Hall, in a large car, came up behind the small car, and pulled across the small car, which was compelled to pull up.

Seventy Miles An Hour. Lieut. Chamberlain added that he started in chase of Hall, who was then driving at 65 miles an hour, and travelling at 70 miles an hour, drew alongside him, calling on him to slow down.

Hall did so, but immediately accelerated, and passed him again. Lieut. Chamberlain said that he overtook and passed Hall, and stopped to speak to a policeman at the end of the by-pass. Lieut. Chamberlain added:—

"Hall passed up at high speed, his car scraping my car. I followed and got in front again. I followed him, and he came up behind me, and demanded his name and address. He refused, and said that if he had not a lady with him he would have 'bashed my face in.'"

The Defence. Mr. Laurence Vane, for Hall: Is it in the spirit of a crusader that you travelled at 70 miles an hour and overtook him?—Yes.

Why?—Because I considered he had been driving dangerously. I suggested that you yourself are a dangerous driver and were driving dangerously. I was not.

You have been convicted for dangerous driving?—No, for negligent driving.

Are you taught to quibble like that in the Coldstream Guards?—The bench overruled the question. You were annoyed because he passed you?—No.

Hall said that his speed was never more than 30 or 35 miles an hour, and it was not till afterwards that he knew his driving was being complained of. The lieutenant refused to be further engaged.

The bench dismissed the summons. Mr. Vane asked for costs, which were refused.
